Five persons were injured when a car in which they were riding skidded and overturned at Mission street when the rain was falling heaviest.

Three persons were bruised and lacerated when a huge plate glass window at the Hotel Whitcomb on Market street was shattered.

War Believed Averted Over Border Fight

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Dec. 10.—(U.P.)—At the moment when it had been assured of the absolute support of the nation in whatever course it determined upon in its dangerous dispute with Paraguay, the government tonight placed facts in the boundary situation before the league of nations.

The government acted through the Bolivian minister at Bern, Switzerland. Texts of notes exchanged with Paraguay were included in the information given to the league.

So far as its attitude towards Paraguay directly is concerned, the government has acted with utmost firmness, and its action has crystallized national sentiment in its favor in this dispute, arising from a clash of frontier guards, that has threatened to lead to bloodshed on a wide scale.

Associations all over the country have voted absolute support of the government, the Federation of University Students has voted not only to support the government in every way, but has asked that if war occurs its members "as a special favor may be placed

Boulder Dam Bill Battle In Senate

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(U.P.)—The Boulder Dam fight continued through dreary maneuvering today and ended with the ruling of the vice-president after a parliamentary wrangle to the effect that the Senate will vote first on the Phipps amendment designed to grant California's claim for 4,600,000 acre feet of water a year and providing that there must be a seven-state compact for the first six months, when if no agreement has been reached, a six-state compact will be sufficient to put the agreement into force.

This amendment is regarded as being aimed at Arizona and is being vigorously fought by Senators Ashurst and Hayden, Arizona democrats.

Meanwhile negotiations for a water allocation compromise continued without success, unless an agreement is reached within a day or two, Senator Johnson is expected to begin insisting upon continuous sessions to force a vote.

GROWERS SEEK TO MARKET SURPLUS

OAKLAND, Dec. 10. Organization of the largest farm cooperatives in the world was completed here today. The new concern represents 35,000 members and represents hundreds of millions of dollars in assets.

The merger represents the pooling of interests of the Sun-Maid Raisin Growers' association, the Sutter Cooperative Growers, Inc., California Peach and Fig Growers' association, California Prune and Apricot Growers' association and the Raisin Growers' association of California.

The various organizations, through the merger, believe they can conduct an aggressive campaign in all world markets to dispose of surplus crops, which has beaten down prices during the recent years.

The products will be marketed throughout the world under the Sun-Maid Brand.

The merger was announced by Harry M. Crocker, vice president and general manager of the Sun-Maid association and F. S. Lantry, president and general manager of the Sutter Cooperative.

The principal factors of the agreement were announced as follows:

The Sun-Maid organization will further extend its large scale manufacturing and merchandising business and will be the biggest food distributor in the world.

Access to domestic and foreign trade outlets already established by the Sun-Maid growers through their subsidiary and the Sunland Sales Cooperative association is gained by the canning fruit industry.

Marketing of their products through the internationally promoted plan on which the raisin association has spent more than $15,000,000 for advertising is gained by the tree fruit growers.

The Sun-Maid corporation will gain further capitalization on the use of its trade mark, realizing a profit for it and adding to its value as the most important asset of the raisin growers.

The cost of selling each article will be lowered through volume operations.

Facilities of five of the largest cooperative plants in the state will unite and the working arrangements of the various concerns will be made flexible enough to allow any combination of crop receiving and manufacturing operations that will give great economy.

Through volume purchasing, an economy will be realized. The Sun-Maid will become the largest purchasers of carton containers and packing materials in the west.

Competition will be eliminated among the different organizations and uniform trade practices will be maintained.

Under the merger plan, farmers will adopt for themselves many of the methods of private corporations whose trend is toward consolidation and reduction of unit cost through larger scale operations.

MALIKS SWAMP NEW DRUG CAGERS

We ask you, is this a nice way to treat a basketball team? The Oakland "A. A. 1" was invited to take the place of the LaSalle Druggists in the Richmond basketball league.

The team journeyed to Richmond last night and met Ben Malik, who defeated them.

It may be stated that the Malik team welcomed the Oaklanders with outstretched hands. They also decided to show the visitors a good time. The visitors decided at the end of the game that the Malik team's idea of a good time wasn't so hot.

As the final curtain descended, Malik's men were on the big end of a 57 to 13 score, quite a score, at that.

The Mechanics Bankers had a good time with the Richmond roosters for their spasm. The final score was 27 to 9 in favor of the Bankers.

Lowell Dyer was high man for the Ben Malik crowd. He collected a total of 13 baskets or 26 points during the game. Rogerson with 13 points was high man for the LaMoines.

The lineup: Ben Malik: (57)—Dyer 26, Huzeika 7, Beftom 6, forwards; Muhi 6, A. Muhi, center; Barberi 3, Cornell 4, guards.

LaMoines: (18)—Donlon 2, Mack 2, Hart, forwards; Rogerson 13, center; More, McAllister, Powers, guards.

Second Game Bankers: (27)—Marcus 6, Hinton 5, forwards; Gadberry 15, center; Heeger 1, McLaughlin, guards.

Roosters: (9)—Dunning 2, Tardy 2, Dielo, Gasprine 5, forwards; Hollinwood, center; H. Tady, Taylor, guards.

Beware of Bachelors
Arline de Haas

SYNOPSIS
Dr. Davis, recently married to May Davis, is having lunch with Joe Babbitt and his friend, Myra, when Babbitt is called away. May happens into the same hotel and is furious at seeing her husband with a girl. After explanations, Davis and May make up. Myra, just naturally flirtatious, decides to turn the acquaintance with Davis into a romance. She goes to his office to be received. She is discovered by May and Beranger de Brie, a performer, who is returning some gloves May left in his shop. Another quarrel, another reconciliation. Davis is called on a case, only to find Babbitt and Myra, who pretends illness. May, suspicious, follows Davis.

Well, now that she had found out this much, what should she do next? Suppose Ed had been telling the truth after all. Suppose the call had been a mistake as he said. If she went up there and found that everything was all right it would make her feel extremely silly. But, on the other hand, suppose her worst suspicions were justified. Then she'd have it out with Ed then and there. She drummed her fingers on the window ledge of the car thoughtfully. But inside her mind something kept telling her to go ahead and discover what she had come to find out. If Ed had been telling the truth, then she could say that—that conversation. The remembrance of that jazz music decided here. She opened the door—then stopped suddenly.

I'm at the Dead End.

From the door leading to the Café came Davis, Myra leaning heavily on his arm. In the light of the entrance way that fell full on their faces, May could recognize the girl quite easily. So Myra—What was her name? Oh, yes, Myra. Myra. She had been right, after all. She started to get into the car, and once more she stopped. No, she wouldn't interrupt now. She knew all that she wanted to know. And she had decided what she should do. She crouched down against the seat away from the light and waited.

Davis plotted the girl to his car and helped her in. He walked around and got in himself, taking the wheel.

"Where do you live?" he demanded ungraciously.

"Briden Place, number 10," Myra returned weakly. "Go West, and I'll tell you how to get there from here."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(U.P.)—The Federal commission today denies the construction permit application of Edward W. Lippen-cott, Long Beach, Calif.

AT HOTEL CARQUINEZ

Arrivals at the Hotel Carquinez yesterday and Sunday were: F. J. Thornton of San Francisco; Mrs. R. J. Keeney of Eureka; Emil Kraus of Chicago; Mrs. Juanita Rocco and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Benoit of San Francisco; M. C. Child and W. Swan of Berkeley.

At last the perfect type of New York show girl has been discovered and presented for our delectation upon the screen. This is Alice White, who danced into our midst last night in the First National picture "Show Girl" at the California theater, made from that clever serial of J. P. McEvoy's which most folk have read in a national weekly.

From the moment that Alice White as "Dixie Dugan" enters the scene in her humble home, to the triumphant moments when she queens it as a Broadway musical comedy favorite, she is to the manner born. The stage lost a real star when Alice elected to cast her lot with the movies.

Alfred Santell, who directed the picture, showed his technical and artistic knowledge to a wonderful degree, because in the stage the big chorus rehearsals and the like, there was evidence of a real familiarity with the show business. Charles Delaney was admirable as the sweetheart of Dixie, while Donald Reed, James Finlayson, Kate Price, Gwen Lee, Lee Moran, Richard Tucker and others gave satisfactory performances of their various roles.

One cannot highly praise the settings, especially those showing the night clubs and the girl show rehearsals. The stage effects were delightful and the number of pretty girls really startling.

"Show Girl" is forty-cylinder entertainment—with a peppy star, a clever cast and a story that provides laughs and thrills. Don't miss it.

MARTINEZ, Dec. 10.—(U.P.)—A plan to gather data upon the Bolivian-Paraguay conflict to be used as a basis for a report to the Pan-American conference on arbitration and conciliation was agreed to by the special committee of delegates considering the dispute here tonight.

It was learned by the United Press that the committee does not wish to trespass in any way upon prerogatives now understood to rest with the Argentine government, which is attempting to bring about an amicable settlement between the estranged governments. The work of the committee is understood to be seriously complicated and rendered extremely delicate because commissions of the two governments are now in Buenos Aires working on a settlement.

Statement Issued
At the close of an hour's deliberation the committee issued a statement which said in part: "The committee, was informed that the telegrams to the Bolivian and Paraguayan governments, conveying the text of a resolution adopted this morning have been dispatched and that a reply there to should be expected soon."

Co-operation Asked
Immediately after the opening ceremonies, which included an address by President Coolidge, the conference adopted unanimously a resolution asking the two estranged governments to co-operate with the conference in bringing about a peaceful settlement of the controversy which has suddenly brought them to the brink of war.

How To End Constipation

If you want to get rid of constipation for good, you must cleanse the liver of its stored-up bile and set it to working right. Remember, it's a torpid, lazy liver clogged with bile that keeps you constipated. This surplus bile poisons your whole system, causing headaches, bad breath, yellow skin, sour stomach, gas, indigestion, dizziness or other disagreeable symptoms.

All that any ordinary physic does is to force a bowel movement without getting at the liver. What you really need is a thorough internal cleansing with Plaster, which brings out all the accumulated bile and other foul secretions.

Plaster is a most effective liver or tonic cleansed from the juices or extracts of harmless plants—remedies from Nature's own laboratory. It acts in a gentle, easy way—no irritation or weakening of the organs. Large bottle—$1. On sale at La Moine Drug Co. and all other good drug stores.

RAPID GROWTH FOR HARBOR PREDICTED

The east now looks to the west as the place for new manufacturing and growing plants. Richmond may look forward to securing many new industries in the near future.

This is the message brought by Fred D. Parr of the Parr company, who has returned after a tour of the east in which he touched at 15 major cities in two weeks.

Parr declared that the time has gone by when it is necessary to create the eastern business man to the strategic values of the west coast as a place for manufacturing. The eastern man now knows that sooner or later he must have a plant here if he is operating a national or international business. Richmond, because of its location and many advantages may look confidently forward to securing its fair share of the new industrial business which must inevitably come west in the not distant future, according to Parr.

Parr received no definite information as to when the Ford Motor company will begin construction of its $5,000,000 Richmond assembling plant, but was assured that the move merely awaits the working out of certain plans by the company at Detroit.

"I was assured," said Parr, "that Ford buys no industrial sites for purposes of speculation. He buys them to build a plant on and does not buy them except as part of a big plan will work out in the future. I was assured that the purchase of 70 acres of land on the Richmond inner harbor was no exception to this rule. I was reliably informed that when the city of Richmond has completed all of its requirements under the agreement made with Ford, and when the Ford company has completed its plans for the new plant, we may expect developments."

In all the cities I visited I found everybody highly receptive toward the west coast and toward Richmond. We can rest assured that Richmond will get its share of all the industries that come west. They know about us and know of the many advantages the city offers to new industries."

Anxiety Felt For King George As Heart Fails

The king had a quiet day and that "stuck in the lung improved." "The king had a quiet day. Signs in the lung have improved. The fever persists though not so high as last evening and is due to some return of the general infection which necessarily affects the condition of the heart."

Prince Nearing
Palace officials looked forward to the arrival here of the Prince of Wales Wednesday, which is expected to be a strong factor in adding the king's battle.

The prince was speeding north across the continent tonight from Brindisi, Italy, where he landed this morning. The special train passed Bari in mid-afternoon and was expected to make a record-breaking trip to the English channel. Bari is 63 miles north of Brindisi.

Record Trip
It was stated by authoritative sources tonight that the Prince of Wales might reach London Tuesday night if the trip to Boulogne is made on schedule. The British destroyer Torch will be waiting at Boulogne to convey the Prince to Dover, completing what it is hoped will be a record sea and rail trip of approximately 7,000 miles in less than 10 days.

The Daily Express medical expert said tonight that the evening bulletin on the king's condition was "not very favorable."

Long Fight
"Although the local condition apparently is improved," the expert said, "the king's general condition is not quite so satisfactory. It is a long fight between the king's constitution and infecting poisons and is likely to be tough and go for some time to come."

The morning bulletin said: "Although the king passed a disturbed night, there has been some fall in his temperature this morning. There also is a slight improvement in his general condition. Anxiety, however, must continue."

Someone Always Taking Joy Out Of Life, Lament

PITTSBURG, Dec. 10—A seven-year old boy today entered a local toy shop and demanded a railroad train, a steam shovel, a carpenter's chest, a football, a quon and a tricycle. In payment for these Christmas toys he shovelled $7.44 in small change across the counter.

BOY, 12, BEATS TEACHER TO DEATH

STANTON, Mich., Dec. 10.—A hatred, engendered when Jimmy Deacon was slapped by his teacher for throwing paper wads in school was magnified in the three years it rankled in his mind and last Friday caused him to beat Glossie Carter, 27, to death with a stone. Jimmy confessed to authorities today.

Jimmy was 12 years old when the classroom slapping occurred. In the little home town of Sheridan, near here, where he and Miss Carter were married, the confession was made known. The murder had been premeditated for some time, authorities said Jimmy related in his confession.

Murder Planned

Day after day, his confession said, he sat in school and contemplated how he could "get even" with his former teacher for the humiliation she had caused him three years ago.

Friday the thought of revenge again seized him and he decided upon murder, he told county prosecutor D. Hale Braxe.

Without disclosing the animosity he felt, young Deacon asked Miss Carter Friday night if she would drive him in her car to look at some traps he had set in the woods. She agreed and drove as requested by Jimmy.

When the car entered the woods the boy said, the motor went "dead." He seized the school teacher by the neck and strangled her into unconsciousness, the confession related.

Look Used

Jimmy said he then got out of the car, found a rock at the road side with which he beat the girl's head until she was dead. Then he threw the rock into Sheridan Lake, he said, and pushed the car a quarter of a mile down the hill where the machine and the girl's body later were found.

He told the prosecutor that he went home at once and disposed of his blood-covered overalls behind a tool chest in the woodshed. He denied that he had attacked Miss Carter.

Prosecutor Brake said he would present the boy's confession before the circuit court which is in session and that probably Deacon would be sentenced to life imprisonment.

Jimmy's confession brought release of Leo Bracy, 19, Olivet college student who was Miss Carter's sweetheart. Bracy had been held for questioning when it was learned he had made an automobile trip from Olivet to Sheridan Friday night.

Ship Fast On Rocks; All On Board Saved

A hole was stove in the vessel's boiler room when it went aground. Twenty survivors of the S. S. Vestris, which sank off the Virginia Capes, were on the Centric. Several of them said the work of officers and crew in handling the passengers was admirable. They said the breakfast gong sounded after the vessel had grounded and that the passengers went to the dining room and found the tables laid as usual.

Other members of the crew praised the orderliness of everyone in the removal of passengers. They said two fire and life boat drills had been held previously and that everything necessary was done quickly and efficiently. There were six blasts of the whistles when the vessel grounded and the stewards awakened the passengers.

White Star line officials, in a tender going out to meet the Centric, said they saw the liner list slightly. They proceeded, immediately in an attempt to help right the vessel as the captain vainly tried to refloat his ship.

The passengers were disembarked at once in tenders and rushed through the customs' office. They left by train in mid-afternoon.

YEGGS HUNTED IN CONCORD HOLD-UP

CONCORD, Dec. 10—Search for five bandits, presumably Filipinos, who raided a Japanese grocery store Saturday night, robbing the proprietor and patrons of a card game, is being carried on by the sheriff's office. The robbers after lining 15 victims against the wall secured $1900 in coins and valuables.

Before making their getaway, the bandits herded the 15, then into a small office. They fired a charge from a shot gun into the floor to scare their victims and prevent them from following.

H. Honda, proprietor, telephoned the sheriff's office in Martinez. Within 15 minutes Deputy Sheriff O. A. Kapell had every key highway in the section covered. Despite this precaution the bandits managed to escape.

The facility with which the thugs escaped together with their apparent familiarity with the surroundings had led authorities to believe that the holdup followed a carefully laid out plan.

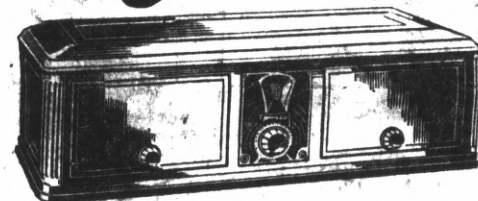

According to the victims, the bandits entered the establishment through a rear door. One was armed with a sawed off shotgun, the second with a rifle, another with a revolver and the last, two with knives and clubs. All had their faces covered by handkerchiefs.

At the point of a knife, Honda, the proprietor, was backed into an office and forced to hand over $1340 from a drawer. The other four bandits confined their attention to the players at the card tables.

Soon after the victims were forced into the little office, they heard a car drive away but could not determine the direction it took.

PLUMBING REPORT
During the month of November, Plumbing Inspector C. S. Ford issued nine permits and collected $34 in fees.

IDORA PARK OF OAKLAND DOOMED

OAKLAND, Dec. 10.—Idora park, for many years an Oakland landmark will be subdivided, according to Bert L. York, vice president and general manager of the company. The park is bounded by Telegraph and Shattuck avenues and by Fifty-sixth and Fifty-eighth streets.

The property has been increasing in value each year. The park contains about 10 city blocks, or about seven acres of land. It will be sold as business and apartment house property.

Present buildings in the park area will be razed and various amusement devices and equipment sold. Property for a large building has already been cleared.

Plans for the subdivision of the property has been under consideration for a number of years. It was learned. Expiration of concession leases at the end of the present year will make it possible for these plans to be carried out.

Through the Realty Syndicate company, the property will be placed on the market early next year.

Idora park was established in 1903 and was at the height of its popularity during the period between the San Francisco fire and the opening of the World War. Increase in property values, and increased taxes have hastened the demise of the park, York stated.

A number of famous theatrical and motion picture stars either made their debut or appeared at Idora park. Lon Chaney was at one time employed as a scene shifter there. Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, Ferris Hartman, Sybil Pace, Hope May, Arthur Cunningham and Harry Bishop were featured at the park.

DECISION NEAR IN ESSAY CONTEST

One of the most difficult tasks of a life time will be faced by judges of the Parr-Richmond Terminal corporations contest for the best article on "The Value of Harbor and Industrial Development to the City of Richmond." The final decision in the contest is to be made on or before Dec. 20. The articles of 500 words or less are written by Richmond high school pupils.

Among the latest contributors is Bruce Parks, high junior student who among other fine things says:

"Richmond is ideally situated in the center of the western shore of the greatest state in the union. It is at the exact point where it is almost imperative for the location of industries. Industrial centers in the east must help in the western section of the country. There must be distributing points, assembling plants and shipping ports. Where, then, could there be a more advantageous spot than Richmond? Wise industries have already taken advantage of its opportunities and a harbor has been built that shall some day be the stopping and starting point for ships with products from and to the entire world."

"Industry has put Richmond on the map. Keep it there by developing and increasing its harbor facilities. Without its harbor Richmond would not be the fast growing industrial city it is today. Industries have made Richmond and now it is up to Richmond to make the industries."

Then there is Margaret McIntyre who writes: "The seed of prosperity is planted when a city has established an industrial payroll. This payroll can only be established when employers and employees cooperate with one another and where industries are advanced by water and land transportation."

And Wilda Eby writes: "Harbor development and industry go hand in hand. Since Richmond is naturally endowed with a splendid harbor, we can truly say that Richmond is 'Industry's Western Goal.' Each new industry will bring an influx of home builders thereby making Richmond not only an industrial city but a city of homes."

Been On Road A Long Time

CHARLES TERRY, 92, of Atchinson, Kans., the oldest traveling salesman actively "on the road" today. He represents a trade journal of Kansas City, Mo.,

Lester G. Eby not to be outdone by his sister in competition for the $75 in cash prizes, sends in a splendid article in which he says:

"When Richmond's harbor work has been completed, the city can compete with other harbors of San Francisco bay and with the direct route to the Golden Gate, will have an advantage inasmuch as vessels desiring to dock here can do so in less time than at other competitive docks."

"An industrial city will grow only as additional industry is induced to locate. In order to secure additional industry, Richmond must have a harbor that will allow any vessel to dock. This Richmond will have under the guidance of the Parr-Richmond Terminal corporation and will take her place among other great ports of the Pacific Coast."

Mary Com is another contributor. She writes: "With our harbor deepened and our docks ready other nationally famous manufacturers are sure to come and establish their factories on our clam flats, south of Channing boulevard and upward only the bay."

Girls so far predominate in the essay contest.

Eleanor Galbraith, a junior high school student, has this to say: "Richmond has everything to make a good harbor and when we let the outside world know that we are behind the harbor movement in earnest, then you will see such a boom that we have never experienced before."

Support Urged
"With the development of the harbor it will bring new industries, railroads, steamship lines, many families and all other things that go with the growth of an industrial city. Support your city council, mayor, chamber of commerce, and in the long run everyone will be benefited by a great harbor in your own city of Richmond."

SMITH ESTATE ROW SETTLED

The action was contested by the American Trust company as executors of the estate and won title to the property after Smith had accepted a cash settlement. Ratification of the settlement was made in Oakland where probate proceedings had been filed. Thining and DeLap were attorneys for the estate.

New Model Bus On Ferry Run

Improved travel accommodations are being enjoyed by the patrons of the Richmond Southern Pacific ferry due to the placing in service by the Key System Transit company one of its latest type buses on its line operating between Tenth street and the ferry.

A larger number of passengers can be accommodated on the new bus which has many added conveniences. The drivers compartment, which is shut off from the rest of the coach for silent driving controls, controls which operate the opening and closing of both front and rear doors.

Dome lights provide adequate illumination for the interior. The new bus should do much to increase travel over the Richmond ferry.

HOW HOOVER SEES AVIATION

The development of aviation in America is discussed by Herbert Hoover in the current issue of the Magazine of Business. We cite the discussion rather to illustrate Mr. Hoover's philosophy of business and its relation to government than to emphasize the progress of an important industry.

Systematic commercial aviation, he says, within a year will certainly reach a point of development in America greater than that of all Europe put together. "Per capita we transport more than twice the goods, passengers and express transported by any European country and one third more mail per capita than the liveliest of them—and we transport over long distances. We have 7500 miles of improved national airways in regular operation, with 207 municipal airports, 163 private and commercial ports and 124 Department of Commerce landing fields.

So much for the facts. Now for Mr. Hoover's interpretation. All European governments, he says have tried to produce these results by subsidies. These he has opposed. Ours has been the American plan of government cooperation in the same way we have given it to navigation. The government has lighted the airways, furnished charts, licensed planes for safety and aviators for competence. But in general it has depended on private initiative without subsidy. "Here's your airway; now go to it," the government has said.

This is in line with the Hoover theory of "American individualism"—an individualism that means the greatest possible development of the individual under conditions in which opportunity is kept open for the man to make the most of himself.

TRY AND STOP 'EM

The mayor of Cotrone, Italy, has forbidden the women to wear "immodest dresses."

He says that "it is hereby forbidden within the commune of Cotrone for women to wear dresses that either on account of their excessive shortness or for having the neck cut too low or for immodest exposure of bare arms, are to be considered immodest."

All that will take place for a woman violating the mayor's rule is that she will be fined and given five days in the city jail.

Picture the mayor going about with a tape measure and a ravening eye. Imagine his extreme busy-ness enforcing his orders.

He is in for everything that the indignant women of his city can hand him. Already we learn in dispatches from Cotrone, the women are organizing. Women who never though much about lifting their skirts above their shoe tops are thumbing fashion magazines. They are reacting to the fact that in most the outside world women are shortening the skirts, reducing the number and enjoying a freedom from clinging draperies that constitutes the despair of the textile trade. In all parts of the world women are building up—with some fatalities, it is true—an immunity to pneumonia.

If this mayor doesn't look out his women folk will give him the comeback of the heroine of a yarn that we see credited to a college humor magazine—"If you crab at my showing my insteps, I will flash my step-ins."

The Mexicans are in favor of the recall of public officials, but they do it with the bullet instead of the ballot.

Candidates for President 40 years hence will be boasting not that they were born in log houses, but when young they had to take their outings in humble four-cylinder cars.

It is said that the giant sea turtles live a placid existence and attain the age of 200 years. But, wouldn't 200 years be a long time to live without once coming out of your shell?

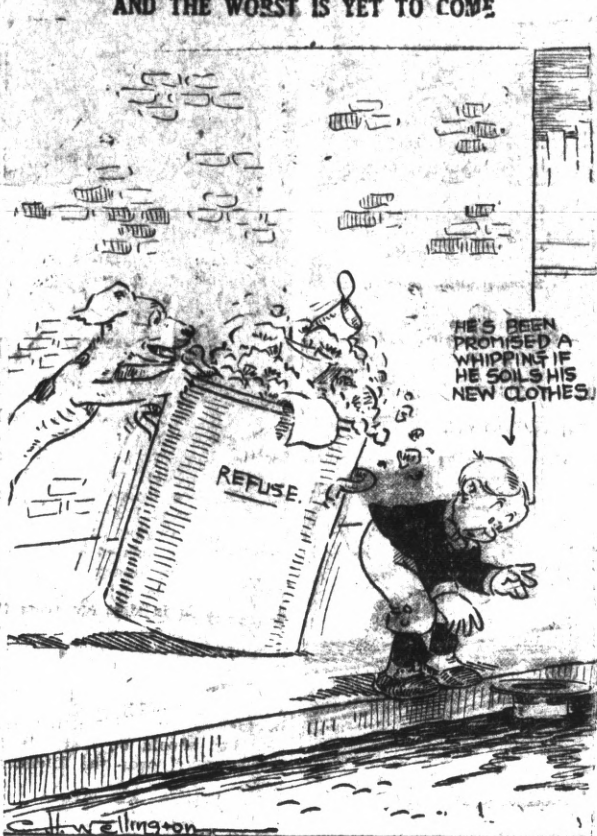

What Shall I Wear?

BY JUDIE

A daytime version of chenille-dotted neckwear is seen in a collar and tie, with cuffs of black georgette with red dots. The triangular evening scarf is worked out in black net. Also with red chenille dots.

Dear Judie,

Please give some suggestions for neckwear. I have an idea of including it among my gifts this Christmas, besides which I have two dresses to remodel, one for evening. This has a cambric neck line and looks very old-fashioned. Otherwise the dress is all right. I am partial to collar and cuff sets. Could they be of velvet? How about pique?—W. C. W.

You are wise in thinking of neckwear as a gift this season. It has been so long since a gift would be welcome that it seems doubly likely to please this year. Yes, of course it could be velvet. Chenille dotted effects on net or georgette also are spangled as well as chenille dotted and lace triangles and bandanas for evening. The handkerchief necktie

BEAUTY

Dear Miss Lane:
I am greatly interested in your articles on beauty and hope that you can help me. I am thirty-three years old and have several moles. I use my eyes and mouth although I massage frequently with cold cream and olive oil. What can I do to eradicate them? Can you recommend a good, but inexpensive food cream for the skin?—FANNO

If you do not care to use any of the many excellent brands of skin food on the market (many of them at lost cost) you can use either lanolin or cocoa butter for this purpose.

After you have cleansed your face and wiped off every trace of the cream with a clean cloth or tissue designed for this purpose, apply the skin food and then, rather than massage, pat it in gently with fingertips or with a rubber patty.

Massaging is likely to stretch the skin whereas patting merely stimulates and tones it. Beginning at the chin, pat up the jaw line to the ear on both sides of the face and then from the corners of the mouth to the temples. Don't use the patty around the eyes, but merely pat gently with the fingertips, beginning at the nose and going to the temples with an upward and outward movement.

Don't pat too hard—just vigorously enough to bring the good astrigent to tighten up the skin and help even more to smooth out those annoying wrinkles.

A movement has been started to obtain increased Federal road aid in order to keep up with the increased automobile registrations, reports the National Automobile club. Thirty-five states have given support to the movement.

Your style, JUDIE.

Cat Tales by Pusey

It is estimated that the final figures for 1928 will show that 45,000,000 persons took vacation tours and that they will have spent approximately $3,500,000,000 says the National Automobile club.

More farm automobiles than farms are in use in Iowa. There are 212,973 automobiles registered by farmers names. There are 210,108 farms in the state.

In the last 10 months more than 200,000 automotive vehicles were cited for traffic violations in Detroit. They paid more than $500,000 in fines.

A RICHMOND FORECAST

The business district has begun to spread from Sixth to Sixteenth Streets and from Chausser to Barrett Avenues. We have every evidence of this fact before our eyes. Why the substantial Kress Building on Macdonald Avenue? Why the proposed Montgomery-Ward Building on Ninth and Nevins? Are they for the trade of today, or tomorrow? Think this over and decide to own a piece of property within this district.

BANK OFFICERS ANNOUNCE MERGERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 10.—Announcement was made this morning simultaneously in San Francisco by Leon Boqueron, chairman of the board of the Bank of America of Calif. and in Los Angeles by S. J. Nolan, president of the Bank of America, that the Bank of America had absorbed for operative purposes the 36 cities in Southern California heretofore operated as offices and branches of the Merchants National Trust and Savings bank. Announcement was made 10 days ago of the completion of a merger of the Merchants National Trust and Savings bank and the United Security Bank and Trust company, but their consolidation for operative purposes was not completed at that time.

New Consolidations
It was announced that the San Diego State bank, which has four branches in San Diego and branches in Encinitas, Solana Beach, and Ramona Beach will open today as the Bank of America, consolidation with that system having been completed over the week-end.

Purchase of the Richmond Commercial and Savings bank and its consolidation as the Richmond branch of the American was also announced.
Banks Increased
These consolidations and purchases increase the number of offices and direct branches of the Bank of America of California to 133, scattered from San Diego to Dunsmuir and Arcata, and having a very complete coverage in San Diego, Los Angeles, San Francisco and the Eastbay cities. The system also controls eight more banks which will eventually become branches but are operating as affiliates at this time.

It is the belief of the officers of the Bank of America, that their organization has now reached its permanent form, and that there will be no further changes of method nor will there be any changes of consequence except in the nature of a continued expansion.

The branches taken into a system as of this date are as follows: Bell, Glendale, Huntington Park, Encinitas, Los Angeles 28 branches, Ramona, Redlands, Richmond, Riverside, San Bernardino, San Diego, four branches and San Pedro.

DISTRICT NOW SELLING WATER

The people of the nine East Bay cities are today in full possession of the second largest water distribution plant in California following the action on Saturday at which the East Bay Municipal Utility District formally took over all the properties of the East Bay Water company.

A check for $14,107,222.74 was drawn by the directors of the Utility District at a meeting of the board on Friday evening. Saturday morning stockholders of the East Bay Water company met and ratified the sale agreement which had been made by the officers on September 26, 1928.

Following the stockholders' meeting the directors of the Utility district met again on Saturday morning, passing the necessary final legislation for the complete acquisition of the private plant. The directors of the district, headed by Dr. George C. Pardee, president, then went to the headquarters of the Water company at Sixteenth street and San Pablo Avenue, delivered the check and took possession.

Ten Years Work

This action placed the people of the nine East Bay cities in the water business with a gross annual income of $4,500,000 a year. The consummation of the deal marked the conclusion of more than ten years of community effort toward the development of the new water supply and the acquisition of a municipal distribution plant. The Utility district is now in active control, operating the water business with headquarters at the Sixteenth street building, but offices will also be maintained temporarily at the old headquarters in the Ray Building.

By the terms of sale the East Bay Utility district becomes the owner of all the properties of the East Bay Water company, including 42,000 acres of land, 1400 miles of pipe, three large reservoirs—San Pablo, San Leandro and Chabot, numerous smaller reservoirs, pumping plants and all buildings, including the office building on Sixteenth street.

Officials Present

At the ceremony of the transfer were Dr. Pardee, president of the district, Directors Al Latham, Henry A. Johnston and Frank D. Stringham; E. O. Edgerton, representing the Water company; F. W. Hanna, assistant to Arthur P. Davis, chief engineer, who represented the latter in Davis' absence, and T. P. Wittchen, attorney for the district.

A check for more than $14,000,000, made out in favor of Wittchen, signed by Dr. Pardee, and John H. Kimball, the secretary, probably the largest check ever written in the East Bay, was presented to Edgerton and the deal was closed.

Closing the deal marks the climax of community effort going back to 1918 when the first serious agitation for a state law that would permit the formation of the district to develop a new water supply and operate a distribution system. Following the passage of such a law by the legislature, the East Bay Municipal Utility District was formed at an election in May, 1923.

Mokelumne Selected

In the summer of 1924 the Mokelumne river was selected as a source of supply and in November of the same year an election was held at which the people approved $39,000,000 in bonds to bring the Mokelumne water here. In September, 1925, the first ground was broken on the construction work for the pipe line. Work progressed rapidly.

More than 90 miles of pipe and tunnels are finished. The Pardee dam, creating a great artificial lake for the storage of water in the mountains is now a block of concrete 220 feet above the river bed and is rapidly being pushed to completion. The Pardee tunnel, which takes the water from the reservoir to the pipe line has been bored through and the concreting is being finished. The Claremont tunnel will soon be "holed through." The work on the Sequoia and Wildcat aqueducts carrying the water east and west at a high elevation along the East Bay foothills is fully up to schedule.

To Continue Plan

Pending the delivery of the district's new mountain water supply, the district, as the owner and operator of the distribution system, will sell water in the same manner as has been done in the past by the Water company.

The local water distribution system is the second largest in California, being exceeded in size only by the one in Los Angeles. Outstanding features in connection with it are as follows:

4700 fire hydrants.
33,000,000 gallons daily consumption of water.
1,500,000 bills sent out each year.
Serves 552,000 population.
690 employees.

Owens 136 motor vehicles which travel approximately 3600 miles a day.
Owns 52 small distributing reservoirs.

Has 128,000 meters.

The East Bay Water company is the outgrowth of a large number of small independent companies going back 62 years.

The voters approved the bond issue of $25,000,000 in November of last year for the purchase or construction of a water distribution plant. Negotiations for the purchase of the privately owned company have been under way for several months, culminating in the transfer.
